SYMBOLS . . . Dave Aaronson holds a symbol of his student Council victory while charming Queen Pat Gussin and her court are the symbol of reigning activities. Dave's plant is the result of an inspiration of Jerry Power and the action of outgoing president, Tim Mead. Miss Gussin's crown is a result of all the things she has done to help students and groups. See May Day story for other symbols given students for student activities.

Pat Gussin Selected Queen Of The May

PAT GUSSIN was crowned May Queen at Friday's annual May Day ceremonies in Lisner auditorium.

The princesses were Maggie Cannon, Dee McDonald and Anne Marie Sneeringer. Other members of her court were those girls selected to "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities."

At a May Day which had a theme titled "Activities Reign," the various school organizations and honoraries did just that.

Editors Named

T. C. Aronoff and Joe Iseman were appointed to the HATCHET editorial Board along with returning editors Aaron Knott and Roger Stuart II. Dave Aaronson is the returning Business Manager.

Mary Foster will be the new Cherry Tree Editor. Serving with her are the new Associate Editors: Judy Crumlish, John Prokop, Jean Ferrick and Tom Wagner. The business manager for the yearbook will be Bill Blocher.

Mortar Board tapped seven members. They are Pat Gillam, Edie Petersilia, Marty Mitchell, Betty Bailey, Susie Kinneman and the new president, Sandy Clements.

The new board for the Order of Scarlet consists of David Aaronson, Jack Bailor, Eddie Dyson and Roger Stuart II. Parke Avery is president of the Board. New members of Order of Scarlet are: Lynn Fischer, Richard Fischman, Alan Hawkins and Joseph Iseman.

The Interfraternity Council also announced their new officers. They are: Charlie Mays, president; Bill Halter, vice-president; Ed Gross, secretary; John Vogt, treasurer; and Jeff Young, social chairman. Pi Delta-Epsilon, national journalism honorary, tapped the following members: Dave Aaronson, T. C. Aronoff, Bob Gerber, Pat Gillam, Joe Iseman and Don Willey.

A special gift was presented to Dick Wills, leader of the University Pep Band.

The Delta Gamma prize to the outstanding freshman woman went to Linda Nusbbaum; the Mortar Board Award to the outstanding sophomore woman went to Joyce Ormsby; the Alpha Delta Pi award to the outstanding junior woman went to Sandy Clements; and, the Pi Beta Phi award for the outstanding senior woman went to Letty Katz.

The Omicron Delta Kappa award to the outstanding senior man went to Tim Mead. The award to the outstanding woman in business administration went to Lynn Bauman.

Looking Back

WHAT KIND OF year was it at George Washington this year? It was a year like all years filled with its ups and downs, but still it was an unusual as well as highly successful year.

To begin with, the University was guided by an acting president. Despite the tenuousness of the position Dr. Colclough did an admirable job. He gained the respect of the student body and of the faculty for his open-mindedness and his forthrightness.

The year produced a better than average number of front page stories for the HATCHET. The University lost a football coach by retirement but gained a spirited replacement—a young man seeking to put the University back in Southern Conference contention. Another front page story was the firing of history Professor Richard Reichard before he ever taught a class at the University. The "Reichard Incident" gave University students a chance to discuss the merits and demerits of the case for weeks. The HATCHET ran letters to the editor defending either the University or Reichard, but the editors made no stand on the issue, for neither side gave all of the facts for publication.

Other stories gave the HATCHET chances for front page spreads. The School of Government and the Law School both received new Deans. Both have proved to be outstanding men—men with an awareness of the University's potential. Dean Woodruff of the School of Government inaugurated a new lecture series on "The Federal Government and the Cities" which brought a senatorial look at the municipal problem, a White House aid, a city mayor, and two political scientists to theorize on solutions for the problem, or to offer concrete plans to clear up the city mess.

Dean Nutting was given the job of building the newly developed National Law Center and the Graduate School of Public Law. Already he has announced a target date of 1965 for completion of the National Law Center building.

The Law School also provided the HATCHET with another front page story when the Law Review put out a special issue commemorating the silver anniversary of the Security and Exchange commission.

The University gained an IBM system, which we are told makes things easier for the administration. But Mike Feakins supplied the student body with an enlightening analysis of the system's success in a letter to the editor. He

THE ELECTION OF Dave Aaronson as Student Council president, indicated that the student body did not desire the re-election of the Colonial Campus party.

The results of the other seven contested offices further pointed out this fact, as only two of these elections resulted in CCP victories.

Mr. Aaronson running against the CCP candidate Stan Heckman recorded a decisive victory in an election which saw 1,426 people go to the polls.

Betty Robinson, the CCP nominee, squeaked by Steve Kamp for the office of comptroller. The other CCP victor was Al Capp, who won a marginal victory over Ron Reeves for the office of freshman director.

Non-party candidates who claimed seats on next year's Council are Vicki Allnut who won by a landslide victory over Parke Avery for the office of program director; Al Hawkins who took the office of chairman of the Student Union Board over Henry Frain; Hal Boerlin who was victorious over John Calarco for the office of School of Engineering representative; John Day who squeezed out the closest victory of all: an eight vote win over Sondra Jacobson for Junior College representative; and Cookie Fischgrund, who gained a Council office for the second consecutive year when she beat Jerry Sluger and Dottie Williams for the School of Education representative.

Eight CCP members were automatically elected to the Council when opposition failed to turn up. The unopposed candidates were: Roger Stuart, vice-president; Lynda D'Andre, secretary; Charlie Mays, advocate; Ann Haug, activities director; Ben Finkel, member-at-large; Cameron Pipplitt, School of Government representative; Pete Wasilewski, Columbian College representative; and Dick Fischman, publicity director.

Alex Leeds, in a special Pharmacy School election, was selected that school's representative to the Student Council.

Despite the defeat of six CCP candidates, the party still maintains a majority on the Council, holding ten out of the 19 positions.

Placement Officers Find Spots For 3,000 Colonial Job Hunters

By Roger Stuart II

• DESPITE A TEMPORARY slackening in job openings, the University Placement office has processed 30,000 personal requests and secured jobs for 3,000 students—two-thirds of the latter for career positions.

The job placement figure was reached over a seven-month period from September through April despite the lull in job openings, and represents a ten percent increase over a corresponding period from September 1958 through June 1959.

Outlook Better

The slackening in job openings is limited to the Washington area, Placement officer Robert Reilly said, but he expects that an upswing will arise shortly. If it does come, it should make the outlook a little brighter for graduating seniors, he said.

Of the many seniors, graduates and alumni processed through the office, he said, most have been expressing an interest in remaining in the Washington area.

Mr. Reilly attributed this factor to a marked increase in research and development activity in the private sector of the local economy. The opening of several new installations by large non-Washington corporations, some increase in the level of government employment and greater awareness on the part of local employers of the excellent manpower resources available through area colleges should account for the greatest number of new opportunities, he said.

In the past eight months he has noticed a near doubling of openings for non-technical graduating seniors, graduate students and alumni. Job openings for technical school graduates, he said, have more than doubled since last year.

Greatest Demand

The greatest demand, Reilly said, still remains for the specialist. Placement requests for engineers and scientists continue to be the "highest in number, the highest in salary, and show the highest percentage increase in salaries over last year's offers."

The demand for these experts is still higher than the supply, he said, which accounts, for the most part, for this year's salary range of $6,000 to $7,000. Last year's range was from $6,000 to $6,900. Our University engineers, he

Remember how great cigarettes used to taste?

Luckies still do.

When the class of '50 comes back for reunion this year—you'll see a lot of Lucky Strike smokers. Reason is, these graduates know how a cigarette is supposed to taste.

They still smoke Luckies.

They've seen a lot of changes in smoking since they left college. But they haven't found anything that beats fine tobacco—or anything that comes close to that Lucky Strike taste.

And funny thing! The Class of '60 seems to have made the same discovery about Lucky Strike. Today, Luckies are the best-selling regular cigarette in colleges throughout the country!

So, if you remember how great cigarettes used to taste, you'll find that Luckies still do.

Powers Of Chekhov Upheld By Experts

By Matt Walker

• THE DRAMATIC AND comic powers of Anton Chekhov were strongly upheld on Thursday in a symposium commemorating the Russian writer's centennial.

The resident director of the Arena stage, C. F. Strickland and Professor Paul E. Stacy, professor of English were the speakers in this program co-sponsored by the Russian club and the Writers' club.

Mr. Strickland upheld the view of the writer's ability to present situations "full of vivid melodramatic situations handled naturalistically as they happen and not heightened as by other better or worse writers." Mr. Strickland pointed out the similarity between the general plan of Chekhov and the movies of today. "Skinned down to their bare bones, the plays reveal the familiar plot of impending disaster to likeable characters. They differ only in Chekhov's surprising and unexpected endings," said Mr. Strickland.

In defense of Chekhov's form, Mr. Strickland mentioned the gradual characterization of each subject. "The threat of this characterization goes through, ties in and interweaves with the story, making the completeness of the character in his environment amazing," he said. Aside from the play itself the acts contain a complete form and structure because of this characterization of subjects and Chekhov's power to make them responsible for the final end, Mr. Strickland said.

Chekhov's comedy has not been recognized as completely as his dramatic powers. "There has been a horror of laughing at a Chekhov play when the idea has been one of sadness and seriousness." (Continued on Page 13)

Nineteen Top Students Receive Bids To Join Phi Beta Kappa

• NINETEEN UNIVERSITY Students, including a blind veteran of World War II and both candidates for president in last week's Student Council election, have been selected for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society.

The list of students is made up of six juniors and 13 seniors. The newly elected members are: Carlton F. Steep, a business administration major, who saw action during World War II and who lost his sight in the African campaign. He graduated with distinction from the University in February. While he was a student, he was a member of a number of honorary organizations.

David Aaronson, a junior who was elected president of the Student Council last week, and Stanley Heckman, also a junior and the other candidate for the top student post, were also selected.

Both On Hatchet

Both men have been outstanding in student activities having served in editorial positions on the HATCHET and in elected posts on the Student Council. Aaronson is an economics major and Heckman is majoring in public affairs. Heckman had the highest quality point index of any of the students elected with a 3.94 average for five semesters.

Other students elected include: Joyce V. Annenson, a senior majoring in history; and Barbara A. Brown, a junior majoring in English literature. Miss Brown is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority, a member of the Dance Production groups, president of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's honorary, a member and treasurer of Tassels, the sophomore women's honorary; a member and secretary of Alpha Theta Nu, scholarship holder's honorary; a member of the Writer's club, an editor of the Student Handbook, and outstanding freshman women in 1957-58.

Also elected were William M. Clarke, a senior, majoring in psychology, and John D. Clough, a junior majoring in zoology. Mr. Clough is an assistant in the chemistry and zoology departments at the University, a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, a member of Alpha Theta Nu, and a scholarship holder.

Vivien Crimly, a senior, majoring in foreign affairs; Ann N. Dekonschin, a senior, majoring in chemistry; Joseph E. Himes, a senior majoring in physics; Lark Lataner, a senior majoring in English literature, and Dorothy K. Marshall, a junior majoring in French language and literature. Mr. Dix recently won a National Science Foundation fellowship said, "for some reason, seem to get some of the best offers. That may be because of the caliber of people who come out of George Washington. Generally, they have more than the average amount of actual on-the-job experience. Located in Washington, they have an excellent opportunity to work part-time and during the summer in local research and development corporations."

Despite the increasing demand for the specialist, Reilly said he also saw a larger need for the generalist. "In those areas traditionally somewhat constricted as far as opportunities are concerned," he said, "there is a marked increase in the demand level for journalism students, creative writers, natural scientists and students of the liberal arts and social sciences."

Attitudes Changed

Perhaps the reason for this is that employers are now looking at liberal arts as not being necessarily a detriment, he said. Technical writers are in demand because of the need to communicate with the public.

In the business fields, Reilly said he has noticed the largest increases in placement requests for retail-merchandising men. That demand has jumped over five times what it was last year. Salesmen and insurance men are needed too, he said; openings for them have nearly doubled. The need for banking and finance men he said has almost tripled over what it was in 1959.

Majors in business and related fields, including some positions for liberal arts personnel, are receiving offers ranging from $375 to $550 per month with the greatest cluster around $425.

Summing up job opportunities, Reilly said, "Salaries are up, demand is up and supply is up, but employers are sharpening their requirements. The quest is now for quality. A few companies still hire in droves, but most seek highly qualified personnel only."

"To meet their demands, these requirements for quality will be compromised somewhat, but not until the last minute, and not until most of the quality graduates have been hired. Quality, to many employers, consists of: academic achievement, extra-curricular participation, personal characteristics indicating stability and initiative, and family sociability; but the main thing is intelligence and the capacity to learn."

showed how the system had made us thousands of non-entities who are secure in numbers.

The HATCHET ran a story on the National Defense Education Act loans and the affidavit squabble. Then the editors, in points of view columns, took issue with one another on the problem. The series stirred up student interest and the HATCHET received and printed a few letters to the editor to prove it.

The religious activities included another excellent Religion-in-life week and saw the establishment of a "This We Believe" lecture series. This series brought professors to outline their philosophies of life to the students. The series also got the HATCHET into a little dispute with Professor Gajdusek when a reporter misquoted his statements. But the editors responded in mild tone to the professor, accepted blame for poor reporting and asked for a little understanding.

Student activities had their ups and downs with the bright side being the work that the Student Council did on the check cashing service committee, and the acceptance of a Council reorganization plan. The light dimmed in the editors' eyes when the Colonial Campus party was unable to see its standard bearer Stanley Heckman elected president. The CCP supplied another ray of sunlight when its leaders were able to get Young Democrats and Republicans recognized for a year's provisional okay.

Other student activities made striking advances. The Writer's Club put on a series of talks by outstanding writers, creative thinkers, a few philosophers and a few artists. Dr. Richard Eberhart, poetry consultant at the Library of Congress, also put on a performance.

Debate team activity was an exceptionally bright spot this year as it was last year. A junior quartet of Bill Stuart, Bill Daly, Dave Aaronson and Al Capp brought home a few championships and put the University in the national championship tourney for another year—a feat which is no mean task, but one which has become traditional for coach George Henigan's proteges. Novice debaters Stan Remsberg, Bob Aleshire, Mollie Harper and Sue Carter turned in splendid performances and promise to give Henigan something to look forward to.

On the down side, University students saw book store prices go up again. They can also look forward to a hike in tuition again next year—something else which is becoming traditional in our spiraling economy—and dorm residents can look forward to a hike in rent too.

Another disappointment to students was the inability of the WRGW radio station staff to really get on the air. Even so the staff has put in long hours on organization and planning. As of now, they expect to be on the air by fall, but then, that's what they promised last year.

Back to more on the up side, we saw the University Players come out with two more smash hits, "Damn Yankees" during Homecoming weekend, and "The Crucible" during the spring semester. The Student Council sponsored Hi-Ball made its debut this year and to hear T. C. Aronoff, one of the co-chairmen talk, it obtained the social register at GW. You're right T. C. It did!

Greek life saw a loss of two fraternities, Kappa Alpha and Acacia. It was a sorrowful day when these old timers bid farewell to the G street campus. AEPi bought the Acacia house, however, and found room for the University's biggest pledge class in history. Kappa Sigma has also prospered. They are renovating the old AEPi house on G street and will be ready to move in by fall.

The Student Life committee had a mild year. Except for putting AEPi sorority on social probation for rush violations, electing members for Who's Who, giving recognition to Young Democrats and Young Republicans and closing out the year by hearing charges for illegal voting during Student Council elections, there was nothing else for them to do.

Running true to form the Student Council got embroiled in a battle with one or the other of the student publications. This year it was the Cherry Tree. The Council didn't want to pay to get space in the book, but they finally relented and we guess they'll appear in the annual for another year.

The literary magazine, Potomac, edited this year by Andy Brown, had two excellent editions. If a few financial problems are solved, next year should see even more of out campus writers produce a few more issues.

Finally, and we're not sure how to classify this one—up or down—the Student Union added pizza to its menu.

This year was a year like all years filled with those events which illuminate our days at the University. Life really hasn't been too bad though, especially when Pat Gussin reigned as May Day queen. But watch out, there is one more down event before we all write finis to another year. Good luck friends, on your exams.

Hester Heale Stands Exposed, She's A Gracious May Queen

By Aaron Knott

● FROM THE smoke-filled room at 2127 G st. to the place where the Indian signs dwell the name of Hester Heale strikes terror in the hearts of all good Colonials.

Not only did this year's Hester report the facts for Foggy Bottom, but with her sidekick, Merger-troid II, she kept the University running. At times it seemed that if she did not get to her office in the morning everything would come to a screeching halt. Once when her key was broken no one could get into anything for days. This was the biggest crisis since the founding of OSA.

Batch of Goodies

As a result of her efforts, our heroine has received a whole batch of goodies: a beer mug, candy, two certificates from the Student Council, keys, books, a gift certificate, a gold gavel, a silver sword and all the left-over Hi-Ball balloons.

Although she hails from Kansas City, Mo., Hester is always showing other people. She shows wayward freshmen how to study literature, co-eds how to manage their finances, and at least one senior how to do triple integration.

Hester's office is the clearing house for information on student activities; it was also the campaign headquarters for about 23 candidates in this year's Student Council elections. Of course the smoke was so thick at the time that no one candidate was aware of the presence of the others and everything was very amiable until someone opened a window.

Part of the popularity of Hester's office is due to the fact that she has one of the few paper-cutters on campus and is always well supplied with scotch tape, paper clips, thumb tacks, typewriters, ink and a telephone. Hester has had a running war with the Cherry Tree over the jurisdiction of her typewriter, but after several skirmishes has maintained the sovereignty of her office.

A Little Relaxation

In spite of working hard for the school Hester manages to find time for relaxation. Many are the times that people coming into the office have found themselves in the middle of a lion hunt, song-fest, or baseball tryouts. (Hester is the leading scout for baseball on G st.). Miss Heale also finds time to go to the Java Jungle although she has never been involved in a raid and is not a draft dodger (to our knowledge). Because she has worked hard

Alumnus' Play To Be Premiered In DC

THE PREMIER of Alumnus Guerdon Trueblood's play, "Goodbye Tigers" will be presented at the Drama Center, 1632 O Street on May 26, at 8:30 p.m.

The play, directed by Tom Long, a member of the faculty of Michigan State University, is the story of a young, aristocratic, southern woman living in the Florida Keys, who finds herself unsuccessfully trying to endure her marriage to a former college football hero. To the Keys comes a young, sensitive engineer who has left the world of industry to try and place some lasting meaning in his life. These characters are inevitably thrown together in a violent conflict. A triangular situation develops which is resolved by death as a hurricane sweeps across the Keys.

Tickets for this drama at $2.10 go on sale May 16, at the Drama Center. The play will run weekly Thursday through Sunday.

Editor's Note

● OUR LAST WORDS for the year are: Good luck on exams; have a pleasant summer friends, and we'll see you again next fall.

EXPOSE . . . Hester Heale, alias Pat Gussin, heads toward the May Queen's throne at the beginning of Friday's festivities. She is escorted by Stanley Heckman.

during her 20 months as activities assistant and has saved all the graft she has received, Hester plans to retire when she graduates this June. She may continue her hobby as a political theoretician and work for Hans Morganthau, who developed the theory of power politics and is connected with the Johns Hopkins Institute of Advanced International Studies (next door to the SAE house).

If she decides not to enter politics, she may become a civil engineer. In the last six weeks she has learned to use the air-hammer almost as well as the street repair crew which has been just outside her window.

Pat Gussin, for that is Hester's pseudonym, is one of the most active co-eds on campus and has compiled an enviable list of activities. She was president of Madison Hall, which she also served as social chairman and as a dorm council member. In her sorority Pat has served as president, veep, rush chairman and parliamentarian. On Campus Miss Gussin has done an outstanding job on the HATCHET for two years, and has worked one year on the Cherry Tree. She has also served as secretary to the Student Life committee and to the Campus combo executive board.

Her outstanding work has earned Pat a place in the hearts of her fellow students and on the lists of honoraries. She is a member of Adelphi, Pi Delta Epsilon and Columbian Women. She was named the Outstanding Women in student government, and just last week was elected May Queen.

A Couple of Peeves

Although Pat is one of the more pleasant people on campus she does have two pet peeves. First, she has a grudge against Alexander Graham Bell and his - - - telephone. It always seems to ring when she is in back working with Merger-troid II. Secondly Patrick (as her friends call her) cannot stand those flimsy IBM slips which she now must use to look up people's names. In spite of this, the chances are that Pat will be found with a smile on her face, a truly gracious person and charming May Queen.

Letter to the Editor

TO THE EDITORS:

Having both won and lost elections, I can say very sincerely that the greatest reward in running for an office is not found in the actual winning, but rather in seeing people working tirelessly for your cause because of their unshakable confidence in you. Sometimes in the excitement of victory I have forgotten this, but in losing I am more inclined to look for compensating factors.

I cannot possibly express my feelings of appreciation for all of the encouragement and confidence which these people gave me. Nor can I ever repay them for these hours of work. I can but hope that their faith was not misplaced and that I will never embarrass them in the future.

Needless to say losing is always a disappointment. But, at the risk of appearing hypocritical, I will say that losing to a person such as Dave Aaronson appears neither surprising nor tragic. Dave, whom I have known for some time, is a most competent and dedicated person. I have no doubt that he will do an excellent job and that he will devote his wholehearted effort toward fulfilling those promises which he has made.

I hope that all of those people who supported me will now follow me in giving full support to Dave and his new Student Council. The strength of any democratic government certainly lies in the popular support which stands behind it. I sincerely hope that the interest and enthusiasm generated by the campaign will not become dormant until next year's election, but will be directed toward encouraging and strengthening the Student Council.

As for myself, I will do everything I can in urging people to work for and take an interest in Student Government. My own interest is still very real, and if I can ever be of aid to the Council or any of its members I shall certainly be available.

Sincerely,
/s/ Stanley Heckman

MARY ALICE COATES, ADPI, was crowned 1960 Sweetheart of KKE at the annual Teke Triangle Ball held at the Potomac Boat Club Saturday night. Among those seen dancing at the water's edge were: Jon Moore and ADPI Barbara Falian, John Vogt and ZTA Anita Smith, Al Hawkins and Mary Copeland, Pat Cox and Betty Milstead, Bob Guild and Janet Littell, Bill Rothe and Bev Magee, and Dick Slavin and Carol Ward. Meanwhile, out on the balcony for frequent gazing at the lights on the river were John Hattem and retiring Sweetheart ZTA Dottie Lund, Bill Crow and Betty Slavin, Dave Sudduth and pinmate ADPI Carole Scruggs, Cliff Baynum and SK Rita Ferrara, Jay Earle and ZTA Fran Earle, Bob Barton and Bev Shafer, Mark Branstetter and SK Donnie Holcomb, Bill Hansborough and pinmate Kitty Beach.

The Sigma Nus house opened to their largest Alumni gathering, the annual congressional reception, Sunday. Its success was to Phil Taylor's credit; scores of old Alumni, parents and congressmen came to fraternize and inspect the house.

Cluttering the decks of the S.S. Mt. Vernon with dates and blankets were the Colonial Cruising Sigma Nus. The Voyagers included Ed Gross and Merle, Jerry Reynolds and SK pinmate Sue Handy, Jim Lisner and Chris, Fred Goss and Bobbie Johnson, Exuberant Commander Jack and Bunny, and Steve Eng and Jane Shouse.

Thoughtful balloting gave Delta Pi chapter new officers in Steve Kemp, Eminent Commander; Spero Kripotos, Lt. Commander; Jon Hagan, Recorder; Jeremy Reynolds, Treasurer; Phil Taylor, Alumni Contact; Steve Eng, Reporter; and Ernie Sult, Chaplain. Following the May Day convocation, the Sigma Nus held an open house and serenaded Brother Floyd Plowman and pinmate Anne Birdson (PiPhi, U. of Maryland). Further noise was aimed at jubilant and prodigious Bob Haese, to celebrate his nineteenth birthday. Among those crowding the Snake Pit were Dick Willis (at the piano, where else?) and PhiSS Judy Holsberg, Al Johnson and DG Penny Reid, Jim Whitney and Gall Shaver, Lennie Pappas and PiPhi Penny Koines, and guests from College Park. Deacon John Harrison led the revival singing.

The SAEs had their annual pre-season Ocean City party last Saturday night. The music was supplied by Courtney Dean and his Sunshine Market "5". Among these wandering beachcombers of tomorrow were Edward Dyson and Julie Anderson, Spero Aspiotis and Barbara Shank, Neal Beryman and Janie Bayol, Bill Blocher and Anne Gallagher, Tony Dold and AEPi Fran Stern, Max Farrington and PiPhi Mary Boyd, Michael Boyd and Mona Dash, Henry Frain and Betty Robinson, Peter Gallagher and Hunter Duncan, Mike Glaser and Joan Morse, Bob Madigan and Claudia Cooper, Jet McNett and KD Mary Foster, Gus Muir and Marty Mueller, Jerry Sluger and Lynn Transtrum, Pete Spear and Mallice, Tom Wagner and Ann Kellogg, Ace Miller and Liz Winslow, Richie Wells and Judy Cookie Crumlish, Harold, Barbara and little Herman Boerlin, Russ Jones and Jody Combs, Cliff Botyos and Lynn Bream, Peter Wasilewski and Pat Thomas, Jim Pitt and Pat Milward.

erva Jones were Charlie Mays and Moonlight Girl Ann Haug, Griff Jones with Kappa Twink Hawley, Hala Swope and Theta Jeanne Simon, Joe Spitzer and Theta Sally Herrington, Cam Pippitt and ADPI Lynn Baumann, Dick Fleischman and DG Zara Pippitt. Seen running around the columns specially brought in from Athens for the occasion were Charlie King and Kappa Lee Jones, Fred Hink and ADPI Jan Crevelt, Bill Carter and Kappa Hattie Riddle, Maestro Mike with ADPI Joan Howarth and George Maisel who tried to bring back the old days in a live goldfish swallowing contest.

The TEP's last Saturday night, celebrated the victory of two of the brothers in the recent Student Council elections. Seen at the affair were Al Capp, freshman director elect, and Alex Leeds, Pharmacy School representative elect. Also seen were Brother Tiger Salzberg, Stan Orlinsky, Benn Prager, Andy Unger, Joel Taubin, Willie Rosenberg, Larry Levine, Joe Shapiro and Barry Kanter.

The highlight of the evening was a chug-a-lug contest between Brothers and Pledges. The Brothers led by Stan Orlinsky defeated the Pledges despite the gallant efforts of Pledges Aaron Blum and Ira Schandler.

The Pikes had a "party till the liquor runs out" party which started at 8:30 and was over at 8:45. Ray Linck and pinmate Margie Martin, Bob Corens and Elaine Moses, Little Richard and Bo Diddley, Bill Farley and Dee O'Brien, Ray Lupo and Joan Felch, Danny Mulville and Jeanette Love, Pete Mechanick and Penny Koines, Dick Krafur and Wanda Nada, Ed Rutsch and Isetta Jones saw 37 gingerale bottles emptied on Hank Richmond when he announced his engagement to Polly Ann Mulville. And another one bit the dust. Anyway, everyone when home fat and satisfied save one in a corner with Jerry Ramos and Louie Hoelman. Ocean City plans were laid out also.

The Delta's year-end picnic at Bobbi Smythe's Twin Oaks was highlighted and maybe even overshadowed by several noteworthy events.

As the time for the 86th running of the Kentucky Derby drew near, many of the people there assembled could be seen wandering toward the cinemascope TV set which Bobbi keeps for just such occasions. The reason everybody was so interested was an invested pool in which one stood to win $1.30 if his horse came in first.

After the Derby, attention focused upon the tennis courts where "Pancho Segura" Begs was demonstrating the finer points of the game amid several entertaining and caustic comments from the onlookers. In a more serious match, Bill Smythe and Billy T. lost a close one to Harvey Montgomery and Ken Larish. The length of the latter match almost proved too much for pinmates KKG Paddy Callahan and ChiO Ellen Cassidy who were getting tired of sitting and watching. Activity on the courts went on into the night as Tim Mead and friend took on Chuck Johnson and Jerry Cornellus until the match had to be called after four games because of extensive difficulty on behalf of both combinations to discern the ball as it sped through the darkness.

And now Aunt Hester fades into the sunset and her niece, new typewriter ribbon in hand, slides into Hester's vacated chair. My annual lobotomy this year will be performed on television so the whole world may know. See ya'.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

Today I conclude my sixth year of writing columns for the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris cigarettes. It has been my custom during these six years to make no attempt to be funny in this final column. (I have achieved this objective many times during the year also, but never on purpose.) The reasons for the lack of levity in this final column are two: first, you are preparing for final exams and, short of holding you down and tickling you, there is no way in the world to make you laugh at this time; and, second, for many of us this is a leave-taking, and leave-takings, I think, ought not be flippant.

If I have brought you a moment or two of cheer during the past year, I am rewarded. If I have persuaded you to try Marlboro or Philip Morris cigarettes, you are rewarded.

Let me pause here to express my heartfelt gratitude to the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris. They have given me complete freedom in the writing of these columns. There has not been the slightest hint of censorship. They have never changed so much as one comma in my copy. I wish to take this occasion to state publicly that I am forever grateful to these enlightened tobaccoists and I hereby serve notice that if they find it in their corporate heart to engage me for another year of columning, I shall require a substantial increase in salary.

The money is not what matters—not as money, that is, but only as a token. I want to be assured that they love me as much as I love Marlboro and Philip Morris. And what, indeed, is not to love? Marlboro is a cigarette which proves beyond cavil that flavor did not go out when filters came in. Philip Morris is a cigarette that is pure mildness from lip-end to tip-end. Both of these estimable smokes come in soft-pack or flip-top box. Neither is ever sold in bulk.

You must not, however, despair...

The summer lies ahead. For underclassmen summer will be a hiatus, a breather in which to restore yourselves for next year's resumption of busy college life. For seniors there will be no more college. You must not, however, despair and abandon yourself to idleness. There are other things to do in the world besides going to school—basket weaving, for example, or building boats in bottles, or picking up tinfoil, or reading "War and Peace." Many graduates fall into the erroneous belief that their lives are over when they leave college. This is not so. It is possible to make some sort of life for yourself with a bit of ingenuity... or, if that fails, dye your hair, change your name, and enroll at some other college.

Whatever the future holds for you, be assured that the makers of Marlboro and Philip Morris join me in wishing you the best of everything. We have taken great pleasure—the makers and I—in bringing you this column each week throughout the school year. We hope a little pleasure has accrued to you too.

May good fortune attend your ventures. Stay happy. Stay healthy. Stay loose.

Review Of The Year: Debate, Drama,

Activities

By Carol Carlson

Activity after activity describes this year's calendar of events.

Starting the year out was the Student Council Sadie Hawkins Day Dance Oct. 16. Program Director Gayle Cook felt that vegetable corsages and a "Kissing Rock" should be added to the regular fun of selecting a Lil Abner and Daisy Mae from the sorority, fraternity and independent candidates. Winners were Dora Anne Thornton as Daisy Mae and Bill Scarliss as Lil Abner.

"Beat Navy" was the theme of Homecoming weekend Nov 12-14. The Homecoming parade, under the direction of Lou Von Blois, was more spectacular than last year's parade. Floats, judged on presentation of theme, workmanship and originality of design, began at the Student Parking Lot at 12:30 Friday and moved to the Student Union for judging. Winners were: Pi Beta Phi, sorority; Sigma Nu, fraternity; and Wandering Greeks, independent.

Damn Yankees

"Damn Yankees" repeated last year's hit of "Guys and Dolls." Clayton Chadwell, veteran University Player, was outstanding as Mr. Applegate, the oily voiced, raspy throated, master salesman devil. Sally Herrington portrayed the slinking, vamping, she-devil, Lola. Julian Barry, New York director and actor, directed the play, which was given both Thursday, Nov. 12 and Friday, Nov. 13.

Although the Colonials lost the football game to Navy, 16-8, they made up for the loss at the Homecoming Ball at the National Guard Armory Saturday night.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Dottie Williams as Homecoming Queen by Student Council President Tim Mead and past Queen Becky Hanzel. Dottie's court, selected from 37 girls included Ann Marie Sneeringer, Kitty Hyland, Margie Weiss and Mary Foster.

... CURTAIN CALL. The cast of the Homecoming musical, "Damn Yankee," takes a curtain call. University Players exerted a great deal of energy to give University students another smash hit, and to set Homecoming weekend off to a great start.

With the beginning of the second semester came the start of a possible annual event—the Hi-Ball. An estimated 500 attended the Student Council dance at the Arlington Towers, said co-chairmen T. C. Aronoff and Joe Iseman who were pleased with the results.

Greeks

March 4 and 5 were important nights for the campus sororities as the annual Panhel Sing and Prom were held. The competitive sing was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma. Second and third places went to Zeta Tau Alpha and Delta Gamma.

Delphi tapping, the unveiling of Pat Gillam and John Calarco as George and Martha, and the crowning of Mary Rose Miller as Cherry Tree Queen were further Sing highlights. The annual prom was the following night at the Shoreham Hotel.

Two weeks later, March 18, Football Coach Elias was Master of Ceremonies for the annual IFC Sing. Delta Tau Delta captured first place with Ken Larish, outstanding director, leading them. Phi Sigma Kappa and Alpha Epsilon Pi placed second and third respectively. Alpha Epsilon Pi received the IFC scholarship award, while Sigma Chi was awarded the scholarship improvement trophy.

Derby Day

Next on the agenda was Sigma Chi Derby Day. Winner this year was Delta Gamma, followed by Sigma Kappa and Kappa Alpha Theta. Pat Kerman, Phi Sigma Sigma, was named Miss Venus. As in the past, the Mystery Race was the most exciting. This year sorority girls raced around a kidney-shaped track in go-carts. Paula Tyler, KAT, determinedly beat Judy Crumlish, DG, and Julie Robins, ZTA.

Ending the University activities was the Colonial Cruise, Saturday, April 30, to Marshall Hall Amusement Park. Leading the day's agenda was a student, faculty and alumni softball game.

Drama

By Judy Altman

• A MUSICAL COMEDY, a drama and a one-act play highlighted the University drama season of 1959-60.

November 12 and 13, the musical comedy "Damn Yankees" was presented as part of the Homecoming weekend. The popular musical by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross was directed by Julian Barry who is currently stage director for "The Andersonville Trials," which is playing on Broadway. The story of "Damn Yankees" concerns Joe Hardy, an avid baseball fan, who sells his soul to the devil in return for youth and a baseball career with his team, the Washington Senators. Joe Hardy and the Devil, Mr. Applegate, were played

By Roger Stuart II

● "RESOLVED: THAT THE University's varsity debate quartet did rate as one of the top 25 teams in the country this year."

From the Maryland-Washington Forensic Conference title to a bid for the West Point National championship, the junior foursome of David Aaronson, Al Capp, Bill Daly and Bill Stuart traveled thousands of miles to meet 125 different schools.

Professor George Henigan, the debate coach, began grooming his "mighty" team from the early weeks of school on the year's topic, "Resolved: that Congress should be given the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

The first test of the year came for the "Colonial talkers" during the last week of October when they walked away with the Maryland-Washington Forensic Conference title for the fourth consecutive time in two years. "The two Bills" team and the Aaronson-Capp combination went undefeated in six rounds of debate.

The following week, "The two Bills" represented the University in a series of exhibitions performances against Dartmouth before area high school audiences. They wound up the strenuous three-day series with a University exhibition on the Colonial Program series.

The St. Joseph's tournament in Philadelphia came next. At this one, the two Bills, Dave Aaronson and Charlie Landon compiled the best speakers' point total, but placed sixth on a win-loss basis. Bill Daly's booming voice and point for point logic won him the top speaker trophy for the tourney. His partner Bill Stuart placed sixth in the speaker ratings and Dave Aaronson came out third best.

In their final performance of the fall semester, the quartet went to the Dixie Classic at Wake Forest. In this, the biggest tournament in the Southland, the Aaronson and Capp team avenged a first round loss to William and Mary College and came back to beat that same team in the final.

After a layoff for the Christmas holidays and finals, the "fearsome four" went to the Marshall-Wythe tournament, tied for first on a win-loss basis, but placed third on speakers' points.

That same weekend, the novice team of Stanley Rensberg and Bob Aleshire journeyed to the Johns Hopkins tournament. Despite the fact that they had never debated in varsity competition before, they came out 14th among 40 schools. Rensberg captured ninth in the speaker ratings and Aleshire took fourteenth.

During the second week of February, the two Bills took off for the mid-west. In the Northwestern Invitational tournament, the largest intercollegiate affair in the country, Stuart and Daly triumphed over 104 teams from 67 schools to win the championship.

The following week Al Capp and

Dave Aaronson journeyed to Dartmouth, but that was one they don't talk about too much. They finished out of the money.

In March, the two varsity teams went to the Georgetown tournament but failed to retain the title which the two Bills had gained the year before. The foursome did manage the best two team total of speaker's points, but it wasn't enough to retain the title. In that tournament Al Capp ranked as the top affirmative speaker, Bill Daly ranked third best among negative speakers, Aaronson placed fifth on the affirmative and Stuart captured sixth place among negative speakers.

Next came the regional tournament at American University during the first part of April. At that point, Coach Henigan split up his two teams and sent Bill Daly and Al Capp to represent the University. The two boys, working together for the first time in their careers, took second place and secured a bid to the West Point National Championship tourney.

At West Point, Daly and Capp won four rounds and lost four, failed to get into the eliminations, but insured GW of a ranking among the top 25 debating teams out of 1800 in the country.

Religion

By Ellen Garfield

● RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES at the University were highlighted this year by Religion-in-Life-Week, the lecture series "This We Believe," a conference on the Problems of Courtship and Marriage and services at the University Chapel.

Religion-in-Life-Week, held November 23-25, brought to the campus a number of outstanding speakers. Each fraternity and sorority had a speaker who discussed some form of religion. Twenty-two outstanding people came to the University and spoke to lecture classes. Among them were: Paul Siple, head of International Geophysical Year, who spoke on "Religion in Science;" and General Grunther, president of the American Red Cross, who discussed "Spiritual Values in the Work of Relief."

The second semester saw for the first time at the University a lecture series entitled "This We Believe." The program featured professors who spoke and answered questions on their personal beliefs.

Attendance at the University Chapel indicated an increased interest in religion, according to Dr. Joseph Sizoo, University religious director. Dr. Sizoo noted that over 300 students attended the Christmas service.

The Religious Council composed of two representatives from every religious organization on campus sponsored work trips to Junior Village, Washington's home for orphan children.

"A good deal is being said and written today about the revival of religion," commented Dr. Sizoo. I see no evidence in institutions of higher learning, like George Washington, of a revival of religion. But I do see a great resurgence of interest in religion. It is always a hopeful sign when the student world begins to ask questions about religion. That is what is happening here. This is more true this year than any year since I've been here. The student may not agree with what you say about religion but he wants you to say it. The attendance at Chapel and at the several religious organizations and the interest shown during Religion-in-Life-Week reached a peak this academic year."

Lectures

by Geri Sullivan

● TWO NEW University lecture series were inaugurated this semester—"The Federal Government and the Cities" sponsored by the School of Government and the "This We Believe" series, interfaith discussions under the auspices of the University Chapel with the cooperation of the Religious Council.

Both programs were successful and one—the "This We Believe" series—will be continued next year due to the excellent response of the students, Dr. Joseph Sizoo said.

Many new ideas were brought forth in the School of Government's lecture series such as the one espoused by Dr. Roscoe C. Martin of Syracuse University who said that "new relations between the Federal Government and the cities signalize the emergence of a three-way federalism"—that of Federal, state and local government. This change has been brought about by a shifting of the U.S. from an agrarian/rural to an industrial/urban society. This has affected the cities greatly, he said, "as they now have a new meaning."

White House aid Robert Merriam, who spoke at the second luncheon lecture, said that "If the states are going to insist on the major role in local problems, they must be equipped with the machinery to handle them. The state government must compete for four percent of the budget, therefore, they must seek additional sources of available revenue. The Federal government's awareness of the metropolitan problem is a fairly recent phenomenon, he said.

Robert Wood, Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor of political science, continued the lectures, stating "The Federal Government is inexorably bound up with the cities' ills, but Federal policies succeed in clouding up rather than cleaning up the basic problems."

Concluding the series, Nashville, Tenn. Mayor Ben West cited the urban financial plight. West noted that cities, even though they are the bulk producers of county revenue, will continue to be the victims of "sardonic grins or fearful alibis instead of cooperation and financial aid."

... ANOTHER HIT. "The Crucible" was another one of the University Players stellar performances. It highlighted the second semester's drama activities.

"This We Believe," an informal discussion program in which University professors stated their beliefs and answered students' questions pertaining to those beliefs got off to a rousing start with Dr. Richard W. Stephens, associate professor of sociology and anthropology. He said that "man desires evidence—concrete evidence of the thing he is to believe in. Yet, religion asks us to accept an answer for which there is no proof—but I myself accept it." He continued, "Perhaps it is not in man's power to know the proof of that answer."

Law professor, Dr. Herman L. Orentlicher, said that requirements for admission to the Bar are too lax. A prospective lawyer need only to pass a Bar examination—his ethical and moral qualities are not taken into consideration. Concerning capital punishment, Dr. Orentlicher said, "I believe it should be limited to certain cases where there is no hope for rehabilitation." Dr. Orentlicher also believes in a "strict enforcement of the principle of separation of the church and state" in regard to the "Blue Laws."

ESTERBROOK—picking up new users every day

BEARS OR PEOPLE—Esterbrook has a pen point to suit every writing personality! They range all the way from one fine enough to write the Gettysburg address on the head of an instructor to one broad enough to write on the side of a barn.

The Esterbrook Classic fountain pen starts writing instantly—the minute it touches the paper. Feels so 'right' in the hand... and looks good, too! Choice of six colors.

Durable? This pen is so durable that it'll last long enough to hand down to your children... if that's your idea of fun.

Jim Black Ranks High In College Camera Circles

Jim's magic lenses captured fifth place in the yearly competition sponsored by Kappa Alpha Mu, national photojournalism fraternity; Encyclopedia Britannica and the National Press Photographers Association.

This is the only national photo competition held for college cameramen. In this year's contest there were 1100 entries from 130 photographers. Jim had 11 entries, and four of these were prize winners.

His "Mother Help Me" shot in the news division gained a second prize. His picture story, "Study in Attitudes" won a third prize. The sports' shot, "Two Different Worlds" won an honorable mention, and his college life story, "Fun n' Fashion" gained him another honorable mention.

"Plaques, language dictionaries and certificates make up the loot," Jim says.

Jim Black came to the University in 1956 after having served for six years in the Marine Corps. Four of those years he put in as a naval gunfire spotter and two of them he spent as a Public Information Officer.

He went to work for United Press International and attended classes part-time for several years. Last fall he quit working for UPI and began life as a full time student. He is married and is now the proud father of a baby daughter.

During the past year he has been carrying 15 credit hours and doing the Cherry Tree photographic work, as well as being the HATCHET's best and most gifted photographer. These photos came from HATCHET and Cherry Tree assignments. As though this work were not enough, his free-lance work includes assignments from a host of other sources.

... "MOTHER HELP ME." This is the best picture Jim Black took for the University of Missouri Contest. It won the HATCHET photographer a second prize in the news division. More of Black's photos appear on Pages 8 and 9. His second prize sports shot appears in the sports section this week.

HAIR AND SHAKESPEARE 331

Essentials of Good Grooming,
Prof. Tonsorial

Introspective reading of the Bard's works to prove that grooming was a motivating factor. Close observation indicating that Shakespeare's heroines were disillusioned by bad grooming: Lady Macbeth by Macbeth's hair that went witch ever way (alcohol tonics, obviously). Ophelia by Hamlet's "melancholy mane" (hair creams, no doubt). Classroom lecture on how to present the perfect image by grooming with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. Proof beyond an ibid of a doubt that you can use all the water you want with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic replaces oil that water removes. Keeps hair neater longer and attracts the op. cit. sex as Romeo did Juliet.

More Smarities

Finishing up the list of students selected for the highest scholastic honor society are: Jacqueline J. Mason, a senior majoring in psychology; Richard M. Mereleman, a senior majoring in foreign affairs; Elaine P. Rosenthal, a senior majoring in art history; Eileen M. Scott, a senior majoring in English literature, and Ann Marie Sneeringer, a senior majoring in English.

Mr. Mereleman is vice president of the International Relations club, secretary of the Writer's club, a member of Delta Rho debate honorary society, a past member of the Enosinian Debate society, a member of Pi Gamma Mu national social science fraternity, a member of Order of Scarlet and the winner of the third prize in the 1957 Hillel short story contest.

Eileen Scott is the secretary in the English composition department. She was born in London, England, and served in the Royal Air Force WAAF during World War II.

Miss Sneeringer is a member of Mortar Board senior women's honorary, a past member of the Student Council, a member of the Traveling Troubadours and the Glee club, as well as a member of a host of other honorary and service organizations.

The students will be initiated May 26 in the Board room of the library. Dean A. M. Woodruff will be the speaker. The initiation is not open to the public.

Laughter at his plays is made more difficult because the audience has too much sympathy for the comic characters who see themselves as clearly and sanely as the audience does. The humor of Chekhov is not one that demands immediate and hearty laughter, but is enjoyable privately with a chuckle," Mr. Strickland said.

Professor Stacy choose Chekhov's symbolism as his subject. The physical peculiarity of each character distinguishes him symbolically from all others and unifies a play that might perhaps be lacking in plan, said Mr. Stacy. "This unifying device works its way through the speeches of the play—the characters have their own connected metaphors and similes which make the characterizations so complete. Some of the symbolism detaches itself and becomes cosmic, as ways of life and the universe. When this universality takes place," Mr. Stacy said, "we get a universal poetry."

Lecture Series Reviews

Mr. Robert E. Gajdusek, assistant professor of English, the third speaker in the series stirred up a hornet's nest. After the review of his talk had been printed in the HATCHET, he wrote a "Letter to the Editor" charging that his statements, as they were printed, were misconstrued and taken out of context, thus giving them a meaning different from his intent. The HATCHET acknowledged its error, admitted that it was human and thus made mistakes, and that it would be especially careful in the future to be accurate.

In the fourth lecture of this series, Dr. Eva M. Johnson, assistant professor of Psychology, discussed what she thought students desire out of life. Dr. Johnson said that young people want two things from life: "a feeling of security which a transient society does not provide and an emotional satisfaction which is not offered by today's scientific world." The student is struggling for emancipation from the ties of parents and home, said Dr. Johnson. But, she concluded, the student must adjust to the contradictions of everyday life.

According to Dr. Sizoo, Moderator for the discussions, the series was a success and a "very wholesome experience," for both students and faculty got to know each other. Students were always frank in their questions and the professors were just as frank in answering them. He believes that it created a new interest in religion and made the students aware that it is something about which you can ask questions. Though the speakers represented the three major faiths, there was no interest in sectarian questions and the faith of the speaker was never brought up. In summation, Dr. Sizoo felt that the response to the program was "very encouraging," so much so that "we will continue this series with other professors next year."

"Bertha"

"Hello From Bertha," a one-act play by Tennessee Williams, was presented in March marking the initial performance of the University little theatre. The play was directed by Joe Spitzer and featured Barbara Wohl as a dying prostitute in love with a former client.

The final production of the season was "The Crucible" which was presented April 8 and 9. Arthur Miller's play concerning the Salem witch trials featured Ben Finkle, Kay Buchanan and Peggy Gorin in the leading roles. The production was directed by David Brooks, a veteran of many Broadway shows as both director and actor.

Pi Gamma Mu's Members Chosen

EIGHT UNDERGRADUATE and 22 graduate students have qualified for membership in the National Social Science Honorary Society Pi Gamma Mu, according to Charles B. Pyles, president of the University chapter.

Prospective members are recommended to the organization by six social science departments at George Washington—history, political science, economics, sociology, psychology and geography. In addition to having taken sufficient course work at the University members must meet the following academic qualifications: for undergraduates, a QPI of 3.00 in all subjects and a QPI of 3.5 in social science subjects; for graduate students, grades of "Excellent" in at least half their course work.

Qualifiers

Those qualifying for Pi Gamma Mu membership in 1959-60 are:

Undergraduates: David Aaronson, Joyce Anenson, Richard C. Brown, Stanley Heckman, Roy Paxson, Elsie Petty, William T. Stuart and Douglas Wood.

Graduates: Elena Constantino, Thomas Dood, Margaret Elster, Jonas S. Goldstein, Patricia Hiles, James E. Hobbs, Byron Jackson, Maurice Kogon, John Lauer, John Martz, Paul Raines, Guy R. Vanderpool and Gloria M. Vidotto.

Colonials Lose Two, But Defeat W&M

THE PAST WEEK proved one of disastrous defeats, which settled G.W.'s final standing in the Southern Conference. Now futile fourth, the Colonial nine has two games remaining to sure a winning season in conference competition.

Opening the final tests last week, the Buff, once conquerors of Richmond, were set back 10-5. Errors, the cause of many defeats, completely dominated the tide of the game. In the first inning, behind clutch hitting of Des Gatti, Colonials went into a 3-0 lead. Richmond, however, capitalized on hit muffs and ten singles to turn game into a massacre. Dennis started for G.W.U. and shed four frames before leaving game with the score deadlocked at 4-4. Campana, effective season, was the victim of six earned runs and suffered his initial loss.

Second Defeat
Disheartened by the loss to Richmond, the Colonials suffered their second conference defeat of the week to VPI 7-1. Holding the Buff to four hits, two by Kunze, the VPI pitcher, Jones, proved too much to handle. Hill, on the other hand, was hit hard, yielding 5 singles and 4 doubles in seven innings to suffer his third setback VPI was in control all game, coasted to an easy victory over the Buff and completely dominated the game with their strong pitching, hitting, and fielding.

Against William and Mary, GW pulled a defensive switch to defeat the Williamsburg nine 7-5. The switches sent DeMelfi back behind the plate, Gatti to third base, Wickline into right field, and Schweickhardt to first. The new lineup gave the Buff an added incentive as the team responded by shellacking the W and M pitcher. Hill led the hitting with 3 singles, but again it was Gatti who supplied the RBI power in the clutch. Gatti knocked in 2 runs in the ninth to assure the Buff of victory and then scored on an error by the William and Mary outfielder.

Campana pitched 8 1/2 innings, but ran into trouble in the ninth. W and M rallied to score two runs and then proceeded to load the bases with two out. Coach Reinhardt sent in Jerry Powers who got his first batter on a grounder to Kunze to end the game.

... LITTLE JON FELDMAN is carried off the court by an overjoyed Buff crowd as the final buzzer sounds. Feldman, a mainstay of the backcourt, scored 42 points in this game, the highlight of the cage season, to lead the Colonial five to a 97-93 win over the West Virginia Mountaineers.

head was defeated by The Citadel's Benny Varn in a 3 1/2 hour struggle, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5. GW's Ken Silverstone and Larry Church both lost in close matches in the finals.

The margin of victory for the Colonials was so slim that the championship was decided in the last match of the day. In this number one doubles match, Tarr and Whitehead decisively defeated Sterling and Varn, 6-3, 6-3. This same Citadel team had defeated Tarr and Whitehead in an earlier meeting of the two teams.

The win was a team effort in which every member of the team contributed several points to the victory. One of the key matches of the tournament was number six man, Larry Church's win over highly regarded Lyon Williams of The Citadel in the semi-finals.

Next year, the Colonials will lose Tarr and Church. But with four returning lettermen plus freshman Mark Sherry coming up, the netters may be able to continue their dominance over the conference tennis scene.

No. 1 Singles—Jim Tarr (GW) defeated Jack Sterling (The Citadel), 6-3, 6-4.

No. 2 Singles—Ben Varn (The Citadel) defeated Jim Whitehead (GW), 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

No. 3 Singles—Monte Crook (The Citadel) defeated Ken Silverstone (GW), 6-4, 6-1.

No. 4 Singles—Elliott Swift (GW) defeated Walt Anderson (The Citadel), 6-3, 4-6, 6-1.

No. 5 Singles—Thurmond Bishop (The Citadel) defeated Dick Fischman

(GW), 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

No. 6 Singles—Jim Hamilton (Davidson) defeated Larry Church (GW), 6-3, 6-4.

No. 1 Doubles—Tarr and Whitehead (GW) defeated Varn and Sterling (The Citadel), 6-3, 6-3.

No. 2 Doubles—Crook and Anderson (The Citadel) defeated Swift and Fischman (GW), 7-5, 6-3.

No. 3 Doubles—Silverstone and Church (GW) defeated Stephen Young and Don Sneed (Davidson), 7-5, 8-6.

key defensive tackles spoiled Navy touchdown marches consistently.

The vaunted Middle attack finally flexed its muscles in the third period. Bellino carried for 12 yards and Albertshart snared a Tranchini aerial for 13 more, to move the ball down to the GW 22. Bellino then took a scrimmage line pass, faked out two defenders, side-stepped another, and outran the rest of the Colonial secondary to the goal. Minutes later Navy mounted another drive which Joe Matalavage capped as he bowled over from nine yards out. Again the Navy machine rolled into gear, but this time the boys from Annapolis had to settle for a field goal which raised their margin to 16 points, 16-0.

Nick Anzelmi hurried the Navy punter who got off a two-yard kick and the Colonials were back in business on the Navy 40. Hino connected with Bill Smythe on the 35, and the big end sped all the way to the Navy seven. One TD aerial was deflected accidentally by an official, so Hino faded back and hit Nick Anzelmi in the end zone for the GW touchdown. Chuck Packan scampered across for two more points to close out the scoring.

There were some bright spots,

Colonial Gridiron Hopes Look Better After Disasterous Year

by Dave Segal

● NEXT YEAR'S EDITION of the Colonial Gridders will have a lot of forgetting to do about this year's disastrous season. The Buff managed to win only one game while dropping eight. There were some high points, but on the whole, the season was a disappointing one.

The Buff journeyed all the way to Detroit to open their 1959-60 campaign only to fall victim to a strong Titan team, 38-6. Detroit carried the ball to paydirt the first three times they had the ball. The only TD on the Colonials' side of the ledger came on a 17-yard sprint by Tom Haley. The Titans controlled the ball game throughout as they picked up 325 yards on the ground and another 167 yards through the air.

On the next leg of their road trip the Buff went to Boston, looking to even their season's record at the expense of the Terriers of Boston University. Eight point underdogs before the kickoff, the Colonials rallied behind a rock-like defense and Ed Hino's masterful aerial arm to pull out an 18-14 upset victory.

With six minutes remaining, trailing 14-10, the Colonial defense rallied to hold Boston on downs. Bill Smythe returned the Terrior punt to the GW 40. Hino completed two consecutive passes to Harkleroad and Guida, moving the pigskin to the BU 30. Hino again let the ball fly, this time on a third and ten situation, and Bill Smythe received again for another first down on the two. The Ozenovich slashed across for the TD and the ball game.

Rated as the top team in the Southern Conference, the West Virginia Mountaineers had their hands full with a tough GW outfit which fell just short of adding a second consecutive upset to their collection. Trailing 10-0 late in the final period, the Buff went 72 yards in 12 plays for the score. Hino completed seven of ten passes, four to Smythe, on the touchdown march. Tom Haley was the receiver on both the TD passes and the one for the two extra points.

The GW line stopped the Mountaineers just short of a first down and the Colonials again took over on their own 40. The clock kept running as Hino completed an aerial to Guida, but on the next play Hino was smothered behind the line and the ball game was over. Johnny Thackston had boot-ed a 13-yard field goal and that was the margin of victory.

Losses to Wichita, Furman, William and Mary, and VMI gave the season a bleak look. Things looked even darker when Richmond shut out the Buff 26-0. There was only the Homecoming game with Navy left on the schedule and the Colonials, with their 1-7 record, didn't pose as much of a threat to the nationally ranked Middles.

But once again, the Buff went for the upset victory. A stonewall defense kept the first half scoreless and frustrated the Middles' powerful attack. Interceptions and

Buff Netmen Capture Fifth Straight Crown

● IN ONE OF the closest and most exciting tournaments in many years, the George Washington tennis team won the Southern Conference Championship for the fifth straight year.

The Colonials placed all six singles players and all three doubles teams in the finals. Led by Jim Tarr, the GW team won two singles and two doubles matches to defeat The Citadel by only two points.

Tarr ended his GW career by winning both his singles and doubles matches. He defeated The Citadel's Jack Sterling 6-3, 6-4 in the finals. This is Tarr's third conference championship in singles and his fourth doubles crown, a feat never before equalled in conference play. Without a doubt, Tarr is the greatest tennis player to play at George Washington. His record throughout his four years of college tennis has been outstanding, especially in the conference, where he has not been defeated since his freshman year.

Elliott Swift won the other singles trophy by defeating The Citadel's Walt Anderson in three sets. Number 2 and 5 men Jim Whitehead and Richard Fischman, were both defeated in long, close, three set matches. Fischman lost to Thurmond Bishop, and White-

Buff Nine Has So-so Year, But Looks To Next Season

By Seth Rosen

● THIS YEAR'S DEFENDING champion baseball team, though not successful defenders, showed much promise for the future. The team lost much through graduation last year, and many seemingly impossible gaps had to be filled. It is evident that this year of experiment and experience will contribute much to the success of the Buff nine next year.

A glance at the past year shows some striking weaknesses and some fine team and individual efforts. Against the top three teams in the conference, GW compiled a 2-3 record as Dennie Hill won both games. This record against the best teams shows that on any given day the Colonials could win, but in order to win next year they must overcome their chief weakness, fielding.

In no uncertain terms fielding cost the ball club four out of its five defeats during the season and served as a warning to Coach Bill Reinhart that some gaps must still be filled. However the gratifying thing about the fielding problem was that two sophomores, Bill Pashe and Tom Hardy, were the outstanding glove men on the team. With more new talent like this the Buff could assure itself of a victorious season next year.

The pitching this year did not come up to the pre-season expectations. Dennis Hill, 8-0 in last season's campaign, compiled a 4-3 record this year. Frank Campana, the question mark of the staff, compiled a 3-1 record and gave notice of future greatness. The pitching as a whole was fair and much can be expected next year with all hurlers coming back for at least another season.

Hitting for the year was excellent and kept the team going through many tough spots. The star slugger on the team was Des Gatti who led the team with a .385 average, 23 RBIs, 5 home runs, and the most extra base hits. Gatti proved to be the clutch hitter for the Colonials and won many games with his heavy batting. Close behind him in average were Hill, .360, DeMelfi, .350, and Hardy with a .288 average and 15 RBIs. Certainly the mainstays of the team will be back to improve on their 9-5 record.

Interesting to note is the fact that only DeMelfi and Ralph Kunze are lost by graduation. This leaves Coach Reinhart with a club that should go all the way through the season victoriously and should end up in the collegiate championships next June.
